

Introducing our Apprenticeship programmes

Skills Training UK is committed to working with all our employer clients to design and deliver Apprenticeship training programmes which align with your specific goals and needs.

Whether you pay the Apprenticeship Levy or you are an SME, Skills Training UK is here to help you every step of the way to ensure your business receives maximum return on your investment.

The key benefits of our Apprenticeships include:

- Developed by employers, for employers
- Industry and business recognised qualifications
- Employers have active involvement during the Apprenticeship and take part in progress review meetings. This is essential to ensure continued and positive progress
- An End Point Assessment carried out by an Independent Assessment Organisation to ensure all the required elements of the Apprenticeship have been met
- Professional recognition – on completion of their Apprenticeship the employee becomes eligible for membership to the relevant professional body e.g. the Institute of Customer Service or British Institute of NDT

The employer role

Throughout their training each employee should carry out work and be part of projects which will enable them to produce substantial evidence towards their qualification.

Our partnership with employers involves joint reviews of the employee's progress at regular intervals throughout their Apprenticeship. This ensures continued and positive progress and provides the opportunity to discuss and agree with you how any issues are to be resolved and how additional stretching and challenging activities can be built in, if required.

Skills Training UK – your Apprenticeship partner

We have specialist trainer-assessors with the relevant industry experience and training expertise to ensure your needs can be fully met.

The trainer-assessor will visit the Apprentice at least once a month in the workplace in order to support their learning and ensure they progress in their roles and increase their value and contribution to your workplace.

Some of the specific knowledge modules and professional or vendor qualifications which are part of the Apprenticeship will require formal teaching sessions which may take place within an appropriate area in your workplace or off site. This will be organised in consultation with you.

In addition, we will provide all the information, advice, guidance, academic progress and technical support which is needed to ensure successful completion of all the elements of the Apprenticeship.

Our support is flexible to each employer's needs, for example we adapt to fit in with shift patterns, working practices and different business or organisation environments.
